

FollowMe Printing

In many organizations technology is utilized to support productivity. However, a growing number of different output devices on a network increases the complexity of workflow. Often organizations have little control over how potentially valuable information is transferred to hard copy and then managed forward.

FollowMe Printing simplifies workflow to minimize printed waste, protect confidential documents and increase user productivity.

FollowMe Printing ensures users print only what they need, preventing unnecessary printing and waste. It also helps protect document confidentiality as no document is printed until the user is present at the output device.

FollowMe creates a virtual environment for printing where users can roam and print securely when and where they require, totally independent of geographic location. If an output device fails or is out of service, there is no reason why this should affect user productivity, as FollowMe Printing allows users to simply walk to another device and release their print jobs.

Assistants, who find it time consuming and frustrating when they are unable to operate fully on their manager's behalf, will benefit from the Delegated Printing feature, which enables assistants to print securely on behalf of their managers. Delegated printing also enables departments to be productive during times of staff absence, as other staff can print on behalf of those who are absent.

- Minimize printed waste
- Reduce printing costs
- Increase user productivity
- Protect document confidentiality
- Convenient, secure printing for all users

“FollowMe has reduced our printing costs and enabled our users to print securely from any of our UK offices”

How FollowMe Printing works

FollowMe Printing allows users to print to a shared print queue, roam and release their print job from any enabled output device, this ensures printing is confidential to the user and reduces printed waste, from documents left uncollected at the printer.

FollowMe works with devices from any printer manufacturer and ensures usability and adaptability within diverse printing environments, supporting both host and office printing.

Print roaming

- Release print jobs from any enabled printing device
- Avoid disruption if printers are busy or out of service
- No print drivers to configure on the PC

Personal printing

- Each user has a personal printing experience
- Confidential printing on shared devices
- No print and sprint to retrieve confidential documents

Delegated Printing

- Assistants can print on behalf of managers
- Departments maintain productivity if staff are absent
- Securely share print jobs, without IT's assistance
